THIS SUNDAY'S READINGS

DEUTERONOMY 26:4-10:The first readings during Lent each year are wonderfully arranged, leading us from the beginnings of the history of God's People to a time of immediate preparation for the coming of Christ; each Sunday takes us further forward in the history of God's promises to his People. This year's readings commence with the profession of faith about God's care of his People; Israelite priests had to make this when presenting their offering. Surprisingly this profession starts not with the promises to Abraham but with the wanderings of the nomadic tribes down to Egypt. It was first in Egypt that God made them his people, rescuing them from slavery. In this version of the history of Israel the decisive moment was not the call of Abraham but the exodus from Egypt. But in the readings over the next few Sundays we will work forward through the call of Abraham, the call of Moses, the first Passover in Canaan and the promise of a New Covenant after the People return from the Babylonian Exile. These readings provide a record of God's constant presence as he prepares the People for the coming of his Son at the incarnation, and the revelation of God in the Cross and through the Resurrection at Easter.

ROMANS 10:8-13:In these chapters of the Letter to the Romans Paul is struggling with the problem of the salvation of the Jews: how is it that the People so carefully nurtured for so long should refuse to acknowledge that Jesus is the fulfilment of God's plan of salvation? To Paul, himself a fervent Jew, it was agonizing that so many of his own people should refuse to acknowledge Jesus. But he saw that their refusal opened the door to the gentiles. The Christian community at Rome was composed of both Jews and gentiles. It was important for Paul to show that even scripture proclaims that the door is open to all who profess their faith in Christ, not one party to the exclusion of the other: so, no distinction between Jew and Greek. This is, however, a very different profession of faith from the profession in the first reading: that was a belief in a Lord God who rescued from Egypt. This is a belief that the Lord God raised Jesus from the dead, and raised him to the status of Lord. Paul never uses the word 'God' of Jesus, but he does call him 'LORD', the word which the Jewish people have used for God (then and now) instead of pronouncing His personal name.

LUKE 4:1-13:To remind us that Lent is a time of testing, the gospel reading of the First Sunday of Lent is always about the testing of Jesus. Through our fasting (or whatever that extra offering we make to the Lord during Lent may be) we enter into solidarity with the hardship undergone by Jesus in his Passion. Of course Lent is not a matter of testing out how far we can push ourselves (a sort of macho self-torture). Rather it is a period of preparation for the Passion and Resurrection - just like the forty years of Israel in the desert preparing for the Promised Land, or like the prophet Elijah's forty-day preparation before he encounters God on Mount Horeb, or like the forty days during which Christ prepared the apostles between Easter and the Ascension. The point of Jesus' forty-day fast is to give some force in response to the devil's first temptation. To each of the devil's taunts Jesus replies with a word of scripture: if you rely on God's word you are unshakably safe, for God has created and arranged everything. Matthew and Luke have a different order for the second and third temptations: Matthew climaxes with Jesus as the Second Moses, like Moses seeing all the territories from a high mountain. Luke ends the scene as he begins and ends his gospel, at Jerusalem, the turning-point of the gospel - the place where Jesus rises from the dead and ascends to the Father .

CAFOD FAMILY FAST DAY FRIDAY 15TH MAR: Mahinur, featured on the Fast Day poster & prayer cards (in the porch) used to support her family in Bangladesh by fishing until the river ran dry, just one example of the impact of ever more frequent droughts, floods and storms on vulnerable communities. CAFOD, with our help, wants to bring more resilient farming techniques to communities such as Mahinur's. Please use a Fast Day envelope to make your donation (gift-aided if you pay income tax) in the 2nd collection next Sunday. See <https://cafod.org.uk/Fundraise/Fast-Day>, also <https://projects.cafod.org.uk/bangladesh/> to see Mahinur's story – she is doubly disadvantaged because her husband and son are both disabled. She also features in the CAFOD magazine Side by Side, a few copies of which are available in the porch. To receive future editions, e-mail jcrone@cafod.org.uk or tel 01223 358552. CAFOD is the official overseas aid agency for the Catholic Church in England & Wales, is part of the global Caritas network, and works in over 40 countries, seeking local solutions to end poverty and injustice.

THE GDPR LEGISLATION

Catholic Insurance Service have given instructions to the Diocese regarding the new GDPR legislation which is now in force. It means, for instance, that without the written consent of those who are living (which they and they alone can give) we are no longer able to publish their names in the newsletter.

We also realise that this seems to be a bit of a blow for us pastorally as we pray for those who are ill and will continue to do so. Mass Intentions for those who are living should be simply listed with a first name (if appropriate) or listed as a Private Intention with the sur-name of the donor so that you can recognise it is the Mass you have requested.

For Those Who Are Ill

Dr Michael Hoskin, Joseph Mashapure, Jayne Stewart, Angela Fordham, Vyramuthu Sabanathan, Teresa Margaret Creet, Monica Nwaiku, Stanley Waddingham, Rosemond Anderson, Bridget Mielke, Richard Hunt and all others.

Loving God, your Son accepted our sufferings to teach us the virtue of patience in human illness.

May all who suffer pain, illness, disease, and the frailty of old age realise that they have been chosen to be saints and know that they are joined to Christ in his suffering for the salvation of the world. Amen.
